

If you have a project or story about the SVP that you think the media should know about, don't hesitate to reach out to journalists or local media outlets. Start by finding the right contact – this could be a local newspaper, radio station, or TV channel. When you contact them, keep your message clear and explain why your story matters and how it connects to the community, example can be found below. It's also really helpful to attach or mention that you have a press pack with more information about the SVP (linked here). And remember to let us know too by emailing youngvincentians@svp.org.uk – we'd love to support you and help share your story!

Subject: Story Idea: Young People Making a Difference with the SVP

Dear [Journalist's Name],

My name is [Your Name], and I'm a member of the SVP (Society of St. Vincent de Paul). I'm working on an exciting project called [Project Name] that helps people in our community who are facing poverty and loneliness.

I thought this might be a great story for [Name of Newspaper/Radio Station/TV Channel] because it shows how young people like me are making a real difference. I've attached a press pack with more information about who we are and what we do.

If you're interested, I'd be happy to chat or provide more details. Thank you for your time, and I look forward to hearing from you!

Best wishes,

[Your Name]

[Your contact info – email and/or phone number]

[Your SVP group or school name, if relevant]